EYEWITNESS LIBYA

Cynthia McKinney reports back on the massive bombing of Tripoli

Former Congresswoman Cynthia McKinney will offer an eyewitness report exposing the truth that has been concealed by the western corporate media.

McKinney is just returning from Tripoli, where she witnessed and chronicled the terrible impact on the Libyan people of the massive NATO bombing campaign.

While the government claims it is broke when it comes to people's needs, there is an unlimited budget when it comes to wars for empire.

STOP BOMBING LIBYA!

In the name of “protecting civilians,” the United States, Britain, France and Italy have been carrying out a massive bombing campaign against Libya.

The same global powers that used the force of arms to colonize Africa, suction out its natural resources and enslave millions of its people are now raining bombs and missiles down on the continent’s largest oil producer, Libya.

NATO has been dropping devastating bunker-busting bombs on Muammar Gaddafi’s home in an attempt to assassinate him. One son and several grandchildren have died but Gaddafi has survived.

Wikileaks-released State Department cables from November 2007 and afterwards show the real reason for the mounting U.S. hostility to the Libyan government prior to the current civil war: the “growing evidence of Libyan resource nationalism” by the Gaddafi government.

Condemning “Libyan resource nationalism” is diplomatic language. The U.S. government was furious that Gaddafi was moving to rein in and limit the power and profits of the western-owned oil giants that he permitted to come back into the country in 2004.

That is the real reason that the Western powers want to remove Gaddafi. They want to replace him with a government that can do their bidding in the country and secure its oil for Western corporations.

In mid-May 2011, just six weeks after the NATO bombing of Libya began, leaders of the anti-Gaddafi rebel movement came to Washington, D.C., for “talks.” They spoke at the U.S.-Libya Business Council. The big oil companies were present.

In any country, Libya included, the masses of people can have many valid and legitimate grievances against their government. But the U.S. government is at war to protect its own interests. Protecting civilians and democracy is of zero concern to Conoco-Phillips, Exxon-Mobil or any of the other oil giants.

It is time to stand up and oppose the racist logic of humanitarian intervention. Oppose the NATO intervention and demand complete respect for the Libyan people’s right to self-determination.
